International Foundation for Protection Officers Expands Internationally

Mr. Gregg Howman, BA, CPP, PCI, CPOI to serve as the IFPO Representative in the Qatar region.

Gregg instructed the CPO Program at Saudi Aramco on behalf of the IFPO on a number of occasions. He was responsible for introducing the IFPO to organizations such as Qatargas, in Doha, Qatar in the Arabian Gulf Region.

Not only has Gregg instructed the CPO Program he has mentored numerous students, as well as serve as their examination proctor.

The International Foundation for Protection Offices announced that in an effort to continue to expand into the various international markets the Foundation recently appointed Mr. Gregg Howman, BA, CPP, PCI, CPOI to serve as the IFPO Representative in the Qatar region. After several discussions with Mr. Howman executive director Sandi Davies felt confident that he embraces the same goals and objectives as that of the Foundation. Providing educational opportunities and a pathway will only enhance the career possibilities of individuals perusing their professional development. The end result would be a positive move forward within the security industry.

As a bachelor educated ASIS Board Certified CPP/CPI and an extensive career in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Gregg brings a multitude of talents to the international security sector. Mr. Howman's key areas of expertise include the following: industrial/law enforcement and security supervision, security training and program development, security risk management, team leadership and development as well as security investigations.

Continuing education and professional development have always been an important element to Gregg. His areas of study include such subject matters as international travel safety, complying to threat assessments, port facility security just to name a few.

Ms. Davies IFPO executive director stated, "Gregg has an amazing track record and ability to provide excellent classroom instruction successfully. Not only is he a gifted instructor he can greatly aid in program development as he hosts incredible energy and drive. We are fortunate that Gregg has taken on this new challenge. On behalf of the entire IFPO Team we welcome Gregg and will support his every effort.
